“ Steve, we wish to extend our heartfelt condolences to you and Ellen's family. We only met Ellen once but remember her nice smile and how she treated us kindly. We were happy for you both that each of you had found a loving partner with which to share your lives. We know the last couple of years has not been easy for either of you and have a profound respect for your commitment and loving support as caretaker during her illness. We have thought of you both this past year and especially this week as you make final arrangements. You are not alone as we grieve with you and for you. Take the requisite time to heal emotionally and spiritually and we hope the precious memories of Ellen will give you the endurance to continue to have a meaningful and purposeful life as you continue your life journey. RIP Ellen, free of pain and suffering. We love you cousin.
