“ Dear Fanny and Jeff,
Susan, the kids and I send our deepest condolences to you on the loss of Jerry.

While we are not there with you now, and over the next few days, we are in spirit.

Jerry was a fabulous husband, dad, grandfather and brother.

To me he was the same as an uncle, I both loved and respected.

Like all of us, his life had both highs and lows, but I always recall him with his wit and a smile intact for everyone to see.

I will miss him, but I like to imagine heaven as a place where you find yourself at your best surrounded by the people you loved who passed before you. And all in an environment that was the most special to you.

Given that, I see Jerry hand in hand with Debbie, with his parents smiling near him in a long-ago technicolor Brooklyn, all the crazy members of his and my mom's crazy family not far away.

Jerry once again will walk or take a trolley to Ebbets Field where his beloved Dodgers are on the field in brilliant sunshine.

Under my vision, he is patiently waiting for all of us to join him.

That said, we cannot help but miss him over the rest of our journey.

I know I will.

All the best to you in cherishing the beautiful thoughts of my Uncle Jerry.

He was loved by many. There is no better epitaph for anyone...

Love, Rich (Richard Wolfen)
