“ A celebration of life! My Dad, Jack Prater, passed away yesterday, October 28th 2015. He was diagnosed with terminal acute leukemia in April of 2014, with a 2-3 months to live prognosis. He opted for chemotherapy and managed to fight it for almost 19 months, and had a pretty high quality of life. He was critically fatigued but otherwise had no pain and passed without a struggle. He was a great husband, father, uncle, grandfather and friend, and was a tremendously positive influence in our lives and he will be missed dearly. I'm attaching some recent photos to celebrate his life.
