

Marilyn Z Daitch

April 14, 1940 - February 5, 2025

Marilyn Z. Daitch, 84, died on February 5, 2025, at Delray Medical Center Hospital. She was born April 14, 1940, in Concord, New Hampshire. Daughter of Leonard and Betty (Steinman) Cowan.

Marilyn graduated from Plymouth Regional High School, class of '58. Following high school she went to Fischer Junior College in Boston, Massachusetts. She worked as a "Switchboard" operator before eventually marrying Sheldon Gesson in 1961. They had 2 daughters, and lived in Peabody, Massachusetts.

Marilyn was widowed in 1969 and later married her second husband Carl H. Daitch in 1973. They were married for 20 years before Carl passed away from Cancer.

In addition to her parents, she was predeceased by a brother, Neil Cowan. She is survived by her daughters, Bryna Gesson and Sherri Gesson Gorsd; stepdaughter, Karen Daitch; grandson, Seth Gords, Mitchell Gords, Adam Nager; grand-dog Brady; sister-in-law, Linda Cowan.

When her kids were older, Marilyn went back to school to be a travel agent. With the job came the benefit of travel. She and Carl took many trips abroad and loved to travel and cruise with their friends from Boston, John and Judy

Mahaney.

She was the president of the Fladers Condo Association and very active in her Kings Point community. She loved to play Mahjong and Canasta with her friends and played in many Canasta tournaments with her partner in crime Liz Goldman.

Marilyn loved her family and friends. She was always there for anyone that needed her whether someone needed a ride to play cards or helping out folding laundry. She eventually could no longer drive because her vision was compromised, it didn't stop her from playing cards. She used to tell her daughter that could not see, and Bryna asked her if she could see her cards and the answer was YES, Bryna told her she was good.
