“ Nanci I remember being crowded around the table at Sam and Sylvia's house on the high holidays with th gleaming silver samavar. All five of us stuffed into the front porch or the little back bedroom sleeping on two single mattresses. Your Mom, Sylvia and Aileen cooking in the small kitchen and the scarry basement filled with odd possession, odors and noises. Life is so precious and in the end all we have is our family. Farewell Rhoda rest with the angels.....
